The Publisher of this work takes this method to acquaint his friends and well-wishers, that he has entirely left off the business of a vintner, and embraces this opportunity of returning his hearty thanks to all his customers, in hopes they will continue their favours to his successor George Honey, who has provided himself with all necessaries suitable to accommodate the public.

The Publisher has laid in an assortment of new types, in order to carry on the printing business in all its various branches. He will make it his study to give all satisfaction to his employers, and will print on the most reasonable terms, and thankfully acknowledge the favours of those who shall think proper to employ him.

THE Publisher of this Directory has endeavoured to supply the frequent complaints of strangers, as well as the Citizens, in taking upon him the arduous task of compiling a Complete Guide, for the easy finding out every inhabitant, of the least note, in this metropolis and suburbs.

But, as the difficulty of a private person's knowing every one and his connections, without the assistance of the people themselves, must be apparent to every one; it cannot be expected, but that some errors and omissions will appear, which he hopes the indulgent public will excuse; notwithstanding, the publisher did make an actual survey of almost every house in Edinburgh, with a view to be as exact as possible, but many had scruples of giving information, as they imagined it was for another purpose he was taking up their names.

Therefore, to render this Directory complete, there will be an Appendix printed, and given gratis to the purchasers of this, about the first of August next, rectifying the mistakes (if any be) wherein the names of those that have been omitted in this shall be carefully inserted, and the publisher will take it kind to have written information on this occasion, that the Appendix and the subsequent editions may be as complete as possible.

As this Directory will annually require reprinting, on account of removals, deaths, new partnerships, and other accidents, the publisher hopes, that those who are to move will give him proper notice thereof, before the first of May next, that they may be inserted accordingly.

N. B. Those marked thus † in the Appendix, are mistaken in the Directory.

As the Appendix is now published, which renders the Directory complete, so far as information could be got. The Publisher will always be glad of new information in time coming, that he may be able to make this work as useful to the public as possible, and he hopes the inhabitants will not think a shilling ill laid out upon a performance calculated, at a very great expence and trouble, for the benefit of this metropolis.
